Video Production

Build professional multi-chapter video content for learning and training purposes

Traditional video creation software requires multimedia expertise while WebVideo Author provides an easy way for beginners to quickly and easily complete a video production.

You can download video from movie trailers or capture video from a Webcam or DV instead of using costly professional camera to create your own video movies.

WebVideo Author also offers users features to cut video movies into different chapters with multi-level navigations. You can add video effects and resize the video by cropping the video, selecting aspect ratio and resolution.

For web delivery, you can convert video to Flash and obtain the benefits of Flash video like small file size, streaming video, high quality and web compliance.

Wondershare

Video in Education

As video becomes an increasingly important way of communicating, more and more instructors use video in their classes for education purposes, especially online video. As the medium has evolved, much more free online resources have become available for trainers who need it.

Adobe's Flash is not only a ubiquitous delivery platform, but also a great way of streaming high-quality, low-bandwidth, interactive video content across the web. Free flash tutorials can give you the flexibility to your learning content much more interactive.
